

Explicit Knowledge: Knowledge Management (KM) session

Topic: Research and Academic Service: Techniques for Integration

Best practice: Assoc. Prof. Dr. Watana Padgate,

Dean of Faculty of Humanities

May 16, 2018 at the 2nd floor Meeting Room NUIC

Research and Academic Service: Techniques for Integration

The Knowledge Management about the techniques for integration for was successfully completed. Since the lecturers were preparing their project proposals, the KM was organized to assist the lecturers in preparing their projects.

The explicit knowledge in this KM session are as follows:

- 1) The processes and steps of integrating research and academic services to lecturers are emphasized and are cleared and can be used by to integrate courses in class.
- 2) The process of integrating activities for cultural preservation activities was emphasized and be used by lecturers effectively.
- 3) The proper planning of activities according to Thailand Qualification Framework (TQF) was cleared and can be used effectively by lecturers.
- 4) Sharing of different experiences in integrating the four missions (teaching, research, academic service and preservation of arts and culture was clarified by the participants.
- 5) Examples of different activities integrated were given by the guest speaker and participants likewise shared their experiences.